you know the last time i checked, the constitution was put in place for a reason. it wasn't so people could take a tour and look at a piece of paper. it was guidelines for the american people to live by. the first amendment was put in place so assholes like the fcc and anyother jesus freak knew their role and shut the fuck up. the fcc has ruined radio and tv enough. i pay good money to enjoy xm radio. fm and am radio suck. too many commercials and too much control on the content because some jackass don't know how to turn the channel. the fcc is pissed off because xm has taken off quickly. i love xm radio. comercial free music, no words being bleeped out if the station chooses to, and weather and traffic. the head of the fcc should not be in charge anyway. he is related to colon powel. who works for the president of the united states, who hears voices from god. now that should be regulated by the fcc if you ask me. the lines between church and state are being crossed more and more everyday. i don't know about you, but this country is looking more like the pages out of a book called 1984. give it a rest will ya? go police child porn, dr phil, or even oprah.
